All Koreans and long-stay Foreigners should mandatorily install the “Self-quarantine Safety Protection App” by the Ministry of the Interior and Safety and abide by the guidelines for self-quarantined persons including conducting self-diagnosis for a period of 14 days.

Under the “Infectious Disease Control and Prevention Act,” those who leave the designated quarantine area without permission can face a penalty as follows, so strictly comply with the self-quarantine guidelines.

Korean nationals : Those who leave the quarantine area without permission will face a fine up to 3 million won.

※ From April 5, violators can be imprisoned up to one year or fined up to 10 million won.

Foreigners : Those who refuse to install the app or leave the quarantine area without permission will be immediately deported.

※ Those who leave the necessary route on their way from the quarantine station to home without permission can be also imprisoned up to one year or fined up to 10 million won under the “Infectious Disease Control and Prevention Act.”
